UrbanCrazy is a UK leader in the bespoke design, creation and optimisation of permanent minigolf, crazy golf and adventure golf courses on any scale, for any budget.

We cater for all styles, from the minimalistic to the opulent, but above all, courses designed and constructed by us will always be attractive, robust and playable. Whatever your vision, our skilled creative team and professional contractors will rise to the challenge!

Courses are finished with our high-grade putting surfaces. We also supply an extensive range of playing equipment and accessories.
In the first instance get in touch via email or telephone, tell us about your requirements and we will talk you through the best options in relation to your circumstances. We will explain the process from A-Z.

Before moving to the next stage, it may be necessary to have further conversations to explore ideas and guide you as necessary.

With many years’ experience in designing and building courses plus an in-depth understanding of the industry, we can usually suggest a price bracket and a realistic plan of action by the end of the conversation.
After the initial exchanges it is time to arrange a site survey and meeting. During our visit we will assess the proposed site, giving key significance to topography and ground condition.

We will also have a detailed discussion where we can come to a consensus over the project specifications, timescales and budgets.

Our visit and subsequent RnD would be as thorough as possible, following which we will produce a report setting out a provisional schedule of works and an estimate of costs, together with other salient information to help you move forward.
If you’re happy with the proposals in our report, you could commission us to produce a set of original designs to include the individual holes, features and the entire site.

We can achieve this in different ways. Hand sketches are best for communicating the character and general feel of the course. Computer generated CAD renders allow you to see precise, lifelike representations of the finished output.

These sets will help you visualise how the facility will look and enable you to inspect the detail.

Mood boards can also be included so that colour schemes, materials and other elements can be compared and selected to achieve the best appearance. We will then have a final consultation to agree any final modifications.
If you have procured the site and are ready to proceed, we then prepare the technical drawings for our construction team to work from.

You may require planning consent for the development in which case we can assist with the application, continued liaisons with the authority and adapt the plans as may be required.

A comprehensive spec sheet, timetable and schedule of works will also be drawn up. Assuming the finances are in place, we are now ready to sign the contract then break ground!
The extent of the groundworks will depend on the condition of the site and requirements of the project.

Our crew and machinery are mobilised, CAT scans are undertaken if required, the course is marked out and then excavation can begin.

Drainage systems are installed as necessary, before backfilling and then proceeding with the build.

At all stages of the process we will keep you informed and up to date with progress.
The core of our construction team have worked with us for many years and have abundant knowledge and experience in developing courses. Our customers include large organisations such as local authorities, right down to private home owners.

The workforce is disciplined and conscientious, always keeping any disruption to a minimum.

Materials used in the construction are always fit for purpose, capable of withstanding the impact of heavy footfall over many years. For outdoor courses, components are all-weather and sufficiently robust. Our final task is usually to fit our specialist miniature golf felt.
Where the budget allows, the facility should stimulate all of the senses and be about more than just “the game”. The area can be sculpted and profiled to make it more three dimensional.

Water features, attractive stone work and fascinating planting all add character and give depth. They can be “standalone” or integrated into the layout of the holes.

Such additions are arranged so that they complement and fit the theme of the site, and evoke curiosity amongst visitors.
An all-weather UrbanCrazy miniature golf course will provide a fun and challenging game for people of all ages and abilities. It’s the ideal interactive family activity.

In all our work we carefully consider factors such as: flow of visitors; accessibility; ease of maintenance; visual appeal and theming; originality; harmony with the surroundings and sustainability.

The best performing courses can entertain thousands of paying customers per day – and get them itching to come back time and again.
It is possible to create a good, bespoke course within a limited budget. Whilst the course will not be extravagant nor comprise any “bells and whistles”, it will be exclusively designed, be hard wearing and provide light relief for those who play.

Budget courses are a good option for holiday parks and resorts as well as start-ups, local initiatives, hotels and guest houses.
Designing and building any course within a garden space allows us to push the boundaries and create something that really turns heads.

There are usually fewer building restrictions on private properties which allows us to create more elaborate and thrilling courses to suit our clients’ tastes.

Over the past decade we have designed courses to fill rear gardens and roof terraces. We know how to bring your vision to life.
If you already own or manage a crazy golf, adventure golf or minigolf course then we can help you maximise its appeal and performance. Services we offer include:
